COLLIERS PROJECT MANAGEMENT MANAGING DIRECTOR WARREN
ELGHANAYAN TO SPEAK AT PROFESSIONAL WOMEN IN CONSTRUCTION'S
OWNER REPRESENTATIVES FORUM

NEW YORK, NY— March 25, 2019 — Colliers International Project Management is pleased to announce that Managing Director Warren Elghanayan will be speaking at Professional Women in Construction's (PWC) forum on Construction Chiefs & Owner's Representatives on March 28 from 8:30 AM to 11:00 AM at Fordham University's Lincoln Center campus. Warren will participate in the Owner's Representatives panel, which will focus on managing relationships and roles on New York City private sector projects. He will discuss the need for owner's representation and project management on large-scale, ground-up construction projects, with an emphasis on building process discipline and risk reduction.

"I am honored to be sharing the stage with my esteemed owner's representative colleagues on this panel," said Warren. "These are all recognized thought leaders in private sector building and it's important that we have opportunities to share knowledge, especially at an organization such as PWC, which does essential work and creates productive conversations for the industry."

Joining Warren on the panel will be Marie Toucet, Senior Project Manager, CBRE; Carlos Nazario Managing Director, New York, Faithful+Gould; Allison Robin, Principal, Levien & Company; and Paola Tocci, Assoc. AIA, CEO and President, The Tocci Group. The panel will be moderated by Sharon Cadman, Vice President, Shawmut Design and Construction.

"Warren is a highly respected member of the construction community and we're excited to have his participation in the event," said Wendy Koshner, Director of Business Development, Shawmut Design and Construction, and Event Co-Chair, along with Michael Duckfield, Director of Business Development, Colliers International Project Management.

Colliers International Project Management provides clients with management assistance, technical and financial analysis, advocacy and oversight across the entire project lifecycle and in a full range of market types. Warren's team has successfully delivered numerous high-profile projects, including project management for 20 East End Avenue, 200 East 21st Street, 21-30 44th Drive, Skybox and 118 East 59th Street.

PWC is a national nonprofit organization founded in 1980 that seeks to support, advance and connect women and promote diversity in the architecture, engineering, construction and related industries. New York is the founding and national chapter of PWC, established by eight women to support each other in advancing women's careers and businesses in the industry. Today, members represent a broad spectrum of the industry that serves real estate owners, developers, facility and property managers and public agencies. They include general construction and specialty contractors, architect and engineering firms, environmental services and suppliers, as well as professionals from the services sectors. Membership is open to professional women and men, private companies and public agencies in construction and allied industries.
